The controller shall inform the data subject of any such extension within one month of receipt of the request, together with the reasons for the delay. Where the data subject makes the request by electronic form means, the information shall be provided by electronic means where possible, unless otherwise requested by the data subject.

A child has a right of access to the information held about them but, in most cases, these rights are likely to be exercised by those with parental responsibility for them. However, before responding to a SAR for information held about a child, you should consider whether the child is mature enough to understand their rights.

It is reasonable, in most cases, for a child that is aged 12 years or more has the capacity to make a subject access request. The implications of sharing their information with others should be explained to a child aged 12 or more because it should not be assumed it is fully understood.
